Apollo 17: Space Program Fully Justified

The space pioneers have completed their last voyage to the moon for this century, and there are some Americans who say the $35 billion the space program cost could have been spent for a better purpose.

What such people fail to recognize is that pure science—the space program—nearly always paves the way for future benefits for mankind. The average man feeling himself wholly lost in the complexities of science can't appreciate its worth until years later when some application for all mankind finally appears.

The value of the workers in pure science can never be overlooked. One such was Nikola Tesla, Yugoslav electrical researcher whose discoveries led to the practical benefit of alternating current—without which there would be no electric transmission lines and no interconnected power systems.

Another example is the Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, an Italian whose work in pure science led to wireless telegraphy.

Not to mention Lee De Forest of the U.S.A. Starting with pure science he developed the electric tube that switches light into power—without which we wouldn't have talking movies, or the computerized phototypesetters which turn this column into type proof for publication.

Benefits from the Apollo moon flights are not immediately apparent, but you realize that the development of rocket engines and navigation controls required to put men on the moon point the way toward far deeper thrusts into the Universe. One objective is Mars.

For decades men have speculated whether intelligent creatures existed on Mars, and already an unmanned space ship has given us new but conflicting information.

Mars is the only planet of our Solar System where intelligent life is possible—and the preponderance of evidence wirelessly back to earth by that unmanned space ship tells us in all likelihood there is no "human life" on Mars.

Earthmen have been taught by religion that they are God's chosen people.

What pure science may be unfolding for us is the fact that we are indeed the chosen people—the only intelligent beings in all the Solar System.

Maybe you don't think it's worth 25 billion dollars to find that out. But I do.

It adds grandeur to the human race to know that in all the Solar System, if not the Universe, Man on Earth stands alone—a magnificent responsibility placed upon him by the Creator.

Investigation into flight is continuing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An investigation was to continue today by the prosecuting attorney's office into an alleged airplane flight that detective Bill Bates of the Little Rock Police Department and Leon Neil Pettry, a robbery suspect, were reported to have made last September.

Petry, 35, of St. Louis, Mo., was shot to death by Little Rock police Nov. 8 outside a Little Rock drugstore following a holdup.

Petry had been charged by Missouri authorities, along with William R. Emery, 28, also of St. Louis, in connection with a jewel robbery in St. Louis Sept. 9.

In October, Emery's body was found in woods near Little Rock. He had been shot three times in the head. Pettry was arrested by Little Rock police, then released, then returned to St. Louis, then came back to Little Rock and was shot when confronted by officers outside a drug store after a holdup, police said. Pettry was shot after aiming a pistol at policemen who had him surrounded at the store, officers reported.

The Arkansas Gazette reported Tuesday that Pettry was flown by Metro Flying Service from North Little Rock to Lafayette, La., in late September. The article did not state a specific date.

The Gazette article said the flight in September was piloted by Bates, and that Pettry is owned by Kenneth Pearson, head of the department's detective division.

Mission Control overruled the computer and the landing was a success.

On Apollo 12, the lunar module was targeted toward a large crater and the astronauts had to overfly it to land, and

The long waiting period ends

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — For 13 days there was strain behind the smiles of the wives and children of the men of Apollo 17. Then a splash in the Pacific thousands of miles away brought unbridled joy.

Come into the home of Ronald E. Evans as his wife and two children watched the last Apollo flight carry him and two fellow astronauts back from a voyage to the moon.

The eyes of Jon, 11, were rimmed with tears. Thirteen-year-old Jaime, the big sister, gripped the hem of her slacks. Their mother, Jan, stood close by, glancing alternately at the screen and her kids.

The television picture showed daddy coming home. Orange and white parachutes drifted toward the water and beneath them swinging gently was the spaceship America.

"Nine hundred feet and looking good," came the voice on the TV. "Five hundred, 200, looking great. 100 ...

"Yea!" Jan Evans and her children shouted in unison. They were quickly drowned out by relatives and friends who packed the living room of the Evans home for the celebration.

"Oh, how many times I've met that ship," Mrs. Evans said as her husband and his Apollo crewmates were landed by helicopter on the deck of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga. Evans had previously served aboard the ship while a fighter pilot in Vietnam.

"Look, there's Daddy," exclaimed Jon as his father followed Harrison H. Schmitt and preceded Eugene A. Cernan out of the spacecraft.

"How do you know?" some-plans for television scanning of the lunar surface went awry when the astronauts pointed the camera at the sun and ruined the lens.

On Apollo 13, an oxygen tank exploded 200,000 miles from earth on the flight toward the moon. The astronauts were forced to board the attached lunar module to survive long enough to return to earth. The mission is considered the only Apollo failure.

one in the room asked. "Because you can tell," Jon assured them. "It's Daddy." "Don't they look great!" Mrs. Evans said. "I hope America is proud. I know Ron is proud of America."

Someone broke out a round of champagne.

"Here's to them," Jan Evans said. Across town, at the Cernan home, Barbara Cernan led the cheers of friends. "The last has been my man and I couldn't be happier," she said amid the hubbub of a party at her home.

Madrigal Singers perform for Kiwanis

The Hope High School Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Byron Holt, presented the program at Tuesday's Kiwanis Club meeting. Holt was introduced by Kiwanian Gaylon Decious, who arranged the program. "In the music program of the Hope schools, in addition to the bands, we have a Junior High Choir, Senior High Choir, and the Madrigal Singers. The members of the Madrigals are auditioned for participation in this group, with the singers being selected from the choir as well as a few of the voices from the student body at large," said Holt. Fifteen Hope High School students, 10 women and five men, exercised their talents as they sang several selections, some old and some comparatively new, all in keeping with the Christmas season.

Hanoi is battered by jets

SAIGON (AP) — The United States kept up the war's heaviest bombardment of the Hanoi-Haiphong heartland of North Vietnam today and the U.S. Command reported the loss of another B52 heavy bomber, an A7 fighter-bomber and seven more fliers.

A report from Warsaw said three Polish sailors were killed when U.S. bombers hit a Polish cargo ship in Haiphong harbor.

The admitted U.S. losses since the bombings began Monday rose to three B52s, two fighter-bombers, including one of the Air Force's $15-million swept-wing F111s, and 15 fliers missing.

Hanoi asserted two more

B52s and four more fighter-bombers were shot down Tuesday night and early today in the second night of the attack. Earlier it announced the names of six B52 crewmen it said were captured Monday night and Tuesday.

The U.S. Command reported that two U.S. sailors were killed when a North Vietnamese shore battery put a five-foot hole in an upper deck of the destroyer Goldsborough on Tuesday. Three crewmen were wounded and a crew berthing area was heavily damaged but the Navy said the destroyer kept on firing.

The North Vietnamese radio said the Polish ship Joseph Conrad was hit by U.S. bombers in Haiphong harbor Tuesday morning, damaging the loading cranes on the stern, blasting a big hole in a lifeboat and wounding four crew members.

The ship's owners said in Warsaw, however, that three sailors were killed. A spokesman for Poland's state-run Ocean Lines said the Joseph Conrad had been held in Haiphong since the harbor was mined by the United States several months ago and only a maintenance crew was aboard.

The Command gave no details on the second night of attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong region, maintaining one of the densest news blackouts of the war. But U.S. officials said scores of B52s pounded the Hanoi-Haiphong corridor during the night, and there appeared to be no letup in the raids. Hundreds of fighter-bombers also are taking part.

Times bureau chief jailed in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief of the Los Angeles Times Washington bureau, jailed briefly for refusing to surrender tapes he said were confidential, goes before a federal appeals court today in a test of First Amendment freedoms.

The Times' John F. Lawrence was held in contempt of court Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica who ordered the newsmen jailed "until he purges himself of contempt" by turning over the subpoenaed tapes.

Lawrence was held for about two hours until the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered him released pending today's hearing.

In Los Angeles, Times publisher Otis Chandler told newsmen his paper would press the appeal on constitutional issues he said are "of utmost importance to the future of our profession."

The material Lawrence acknowledged possessing but refused to turn over to the court is a tape recording of two Times reporters' interviews with Alfred C. Baldwin III, a key figure in the alleged bugging of Democratic National Committee headquarters earlier this year.

Truman: On sort of a 'plateau'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — More poison is entering former President Harry S. Truman's blood stream, even though his kidney output is greater, doctors said today. He remains in very serious condition.

At a 10 a.m. EST briefing, the hospital reported Truman was somewhat less responsive during the night but that around 9:45 a.m. he became more alert. Doctors said his over-all condition was unchanged from Tuesday and that he remained very serious.

A spokesman said Truman's kidney output for the past 24 hours was 64cc. A hospital spokesman quoted Dr. Wallace Graham, Truman's personal physician, as saying that more poison is entering the blood stream even though kidney output is greater.

Truman's critical kidney function improved slightly Tuesday, but a spokesman for Research Hospital and Medical Center said the organs still were performing with less than 10 per cent efficiency.

"He is on sort of a plateau," said John Dreyes, the hospital spokesman. "The doctors say a person cannot stay this way indefinitely ... They can't keep them (patients) functioning ... without adequate kidney function."

The 88-year-old Truman was admitted to the hospital 16 days ago, suffering from lung congestion and bronchitis. His condition deteriorated as complications of age contributed to the problems of damaged kidneys and a weakened heart.

On-again, off-again bombing story

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The resumption Monday of U.S. bombing above North Vietnam's 20th parallel is the latest installment in an on-again, off-again bombing policy dating back more than eight years.

The first American bombing raids against North Vietnam came Aug. 4-5, 1964 following the Gulf of Tonkin incident in which two American warships, the USS Maddox and USS Turner Joy, allegedly were attacked by communist patrol boats.

Those raids were directed against North Vietnamese coastal bases, patrol boats and oil installations.

However, the first sustained bombing raids did not come until Feb. 7, 1965, in retaliation against Viet Cong attacks against American ground installations in South Vietnam.

The bombing continued unabated until May 13, 1965, when President Lyndon B. Johnson ordered a halt in hopes that North Vietnam would make a reciprocal move to de-escalate the war.

2 are shot at airport

NEW YORK (AP)—A young man, taken aside after an airport X-ray machine spotted a "questionable object" in his briefcase, shot a sky marshal and a customs agent today and then was captured in a chase onto the Kennedy Airport field, an airport spokesman said.

An examination later showed the attaché case contained a spiral notebook, according to police.

The sky marshal and the customs security man were reported in satisfactory condition at Peninsula General Hospital in Queens. They were shot when the man grabbed one of their guns, the spokesman said.

The hospital identified the sky marshal as Anthony Petrucci Jr., 34, of Bloomfield, N.J., and the customs man as Gerald T. McCarthy, 41, of Commack, N.Y.

The young man was identified tentatively as Robert J. Dobbelaer.

The airport spokesman said Dobbelaer was preparing at 7:55 a.m. to board a flight for San Juan at Gate 4 of the Pan American World Airways passenger terminal when an X-ray machine spotted what "appeared to have a questionable object inside."

The agents then took the man from Gate 4 to another gate without passengers, "where they prepared to search him," the spokesman continued.

At that, he grabbed one agent's gun and shot them both, then ran onto the rain-soaked tarmac, the spokesman said.

He also dropped the briefcase, the gun and other baggage he was carrying, according to a Pan American spokesman.

The bombing resumed four days later.

On Christmas Eve of that year, the bombing was halted again as part of a holiday ceasefire. The raids remained in abeyance until Jan. 31, 1966, while U.S. officials in Washington waited for a "peace signal" they hoped would lead to an end of the war.

The raids were halted briefly several times in 1966 and 1967 for holiday observances but there was no major change in U.S. bombing policy until March 31, 1968, when President Johnson announced a bombing halt in an area north of the 20th parallel including "90 per cent of North Vietnam's population and most of its territory."

This curtailment, announced during the same speech in which Johnson disclosed he would not seek re-election, was followed by the agreement for the Paris peace talks.

On April 7, 1968, U.S. military sources in Saigon said U.S. units had been ordered to bomb no further north than the 18th parallel and on Oct. 31, 1968, Johnson ordered an end to all U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

Except for periodic "protective reaction" strikes, there was no more bombing of North Vietnam until last April 6 when, without formal announcement, U.S. planes resumed large-scale bombing following a North Vietnamese invasion into South Vietnam.

On May 8 President Nixon announced that he had ordered the mining of all North Vietnamese ports and said that "air and naval strikes against military targets in North Vietnam will continue."

On Oct. 22 Nixon limited U.S. bombing operations to the 200-mile-long Panhandle area of North Vietnam south of the 20th parallel.

U.S. planes resumed bombing north of the 20th parallel Monday and the White House has indicated such raids will continue "until such time as a settlement is arrived at."

Bail OK'd by court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Because the U. S. Supreme Court has struck down the death penalty as now administered, the Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Tuesday that judges could not refuse to fix bail for former capital offenses.

The ruling was in the case of Jerry W. Baumgardner, who had petitioned the Supreme Court to review Circuit Court Judge Elmo Taylor's refusal to set bail for him. Baumgardner has been charged with first-degree rape in Woodruff County and was being held in the Cross County Jail.

Because the death sentence cannot be imposed under existing Arkansas law, the maximum punishment is life imprisonment, the Supreme Court said. The court said a charge punishable by life imprisonment was bondable in Arkansas.

The case was returned to Taylor with instructions that he fix bail.

Van Dalsem is trying to make amends

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Rep.-elect Paul Van Dalsem of Perryville, who was defeated six years ago partly because of a statement he made concerning women, plans to introduce a resolution when the legislature convenes next month as an apology to women.

In 1963, when he represented Perry County, Van Dalsem said of women lobbyists, especially those from Pulaski County: "They're frustrated. We don't have any of these university women in Perry County, but I'll tell you what we do up there when one of our women starts poking around in something she doesn't know anything about, we get her an extra milk cow. If that doesn't work, we give her a little more garden to tend to. And if that's not enough, we get her pregnant and keep her barefoot."

The resolution he plans to introduce would ratify the proposed Equal Rights Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

After his statement, redistricting placed Van Dalsem in a district with Pulaski County, the state's most populous, and with many women working ardently against him, he was defeated by Herbert C. Rule III of Little Rock.

"In my case, I got my foot in my mouth," Van Dalsem said. "I made a mistake."

Goldberg is opposed to 'new court'

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Supreme court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg says he is opposed to the creation of a new National Court of Appeals and has "grave doubts about its constitutionality."

The proposal came Tuesday from a panel of law experts. "The court is now at the saturation point, if not actually overwhelmed," said the chairman, Prof. Paul Freund of Harvard.

As a result, the committee recommended that Congress set up the new court to screen virtually all of the appeals that now go to the Supreme Court—more than 3,500 a year.

Goldberg, who sat on the court from 1962 to 1965, said in an Associated Press interview that he disagrees with the idea.

"The Constitution of the United States says there shall be a Supreme Court," he said. "It does not contemplate in my opinion that there should be a Supreme Court and a subordinate Supreme Court."

The former justice said his second reason for opposing the proposal is that the court "has adequate means within the existing law to screen out frivolous cases." He went on:

"While the number seems very great to the layman, the court is well-schooled in dealing with such a problem."

Goldberg said he read every petition filed in the court during his years there. "I made my own decisions, not my clerks," he added. "I did not find it burdensome."

In its report, the committee said: "It is satisfying to believe that the most untutored and poorest prisoner can have his complaints or petitions considered by a federal judge, and ultimately by the Supreme Court of the United States."

However, it added, "We are, in truth, fostering an illusion. What the prisoner really has access to is the necessarily fleeting attention of a judge or a law clerk."

More than 3,650 cases reached the court last year. Under the committee plan, all except the half-dozen or so that are strictly disputes between two states would go instead to the new National Court of Appeals, to be set up by Congress.

Most would be rejected. Some, particularly cases involving conflicting decisions by the federal appeals courts, would be decided by the new court and its rulings would be final. The appeals considered to be most important, some 400 to 450 a year, would be sent up to the Supreme Court for decision.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, particularly, has suggested that the court is overloaded and steps should be taken to ease its burdens.

Justice William O. Douglas, on the other hand, has said the court actually is underworked—that while the number of cases filed has gone up the number of cases accepted for decision by written opinion has not increased.

The new court would have seven members, drawn by rotation for staggered three-year terms from the 11 federal appeals courts.

Prison hearings continue

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Testimony resumed in U. S. District Court here Tuesday on conditions existing in the state prison system with complaints being lodged by inmates at Cummins Prison Farm of verbal, physical and mental abuse.

Clark A. Hathcoat, 24, of Harrison, who has been at Cummins since Feb. 13, serving a sentence for burglary, testified his greatest fear was for his sanity.

He said that weekly group therapy sessions he was attending at the prison were not helping him, and that he believed he needed intensive psychiatric help. He said he had feared for his sanity since 1968, when he received an undesirable discharge from the Navy because of drug abuse.

Philip E. Kaplan of Little Rock, an attorney for the inmates, seemed to intend that Hathcoat's testimony be not so much a complaint about physical brutality as an accusation that the mental problems of inmates sometimes were overlooked at the prisons.

Jesse Terry, another Cummins inmate, testified he had been struck several times in the last 12 months.

Terry, serving a 28-month sentence for grand larceny, said he was hit once for refusing to shave. He said he had shaved the previous day. He also said he once was struck for resisting when he was being taken to a disciplinary cell.

On the first incident, Terry said he told the guard he had shaved the previous day and that he wanted to go to the "day room" to watch television. When the guard again instructed him to get a shave, Terry refused. He said several guards then ran his head into a wall. He said his head bled from the blow but he was refused permission to see a doctor.

On another occasion, he asked guards to let him take to a disciplinary cell some "legal papers" he had written concerning conditions in the prison that were to go to federal court. Terry said the guards told him he did not need the paper and one "stomped" his head.

Terry said he had seen an inmate held by one guard while another guard struck the inmate.

On cross-examination, Terry denied he had ever cursed or threatened any warden or guard during the alleged incidents.

Opie L. Huie, another Cummins inmate serving 10 years for burglary and grand larceny, testified he was doing heavy work in the fields even though prison officials knew he suffered from rheumatic heart disease and could do only light work.

DISTRIBUTES GIFTS—Santa Claus, assisted by one of his elves, distributed gifts to members of the Hope B & PW Club at their Christmas dinner party recently.

Santa visits Hope B & PW Club

It was party-time for the three guests, Mrs. Abby Hope B & PW Club on Thursday, Dec. 14, at Perry's Restaurant, and gaily dressed elves combined with holly and red candles added to the festive air. After the turkey dinner, president Charlene Wiggins welcomed the 26 members and Santa; named the most Christmas songs in answer to questions; and Mrs. Jewell McCain had the "out-of-step" stocking favor. Gifts were distributed by Santa (LaVeta Mouser) Claus assisted by a sparkling girl elf named Dee McMurrough.

Helen Help Us!

The Readers Always Write

DEAR HELEN:

You asked for comments on "Trina's" letter. She was upset because her husband wanted a simple, fast cremation when he died—no ceremony, minimum expense, a pine box rather than a casket, or maybe none at all.

I've seen many bereaved ones find it difficult to accept arrangements they feel deviate from the so-called norm, mainly because it "looks cheap," and their friends will talk about them. A firm directive from the person involved stops all the nonsense. Hurrah for Trina's husband. I hope he haunts her if she doesn't follow his instructions to the letter.

My arrangements are similar to his: Upon my death, all usable organs are donated to "The Living Bank" after which the remains shall be cremated immediately. —RITA

DEAR HELEN:

People who want big expensive funerals for themselves or their relatives must feel terribly insecure about their true friendships. Maybe they need "center stage" to prove somebody cares. Does Trina feel she will be "gypped" of recognition as the bereaved widow if she doesn't plan a fancy show?

As you say, Helen, fast disposal of the body will be the way of the future. —E.M.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband left a similar request to that of Trina's husband, and I followed it to the letter. There was no viewing of the body (not even I saw it, preferring to remember him as he lived), no flowers, cremation, very private services.

As for the solace of friends—you don't need a big funeral for that. My friends still help tremendously. —LONELY BUT NOT DOWNHEARTED

DEAR HELEN:

This is for the woman who complained that her state was unfriendly to tourists and would-be settlers. Why shouldn't people in our lovely, so far (but not for long) crowded state resent those usurpers who would ruin it with "development"? They subdivide our lovely acreages, chop down the trees, fence off the rivers put up "no hunting" or "no trespassing" signs on once-open land, pollute our waterways. They're even trying to force big industry into our quiet little town so it will resemble the big cities they left behind. They say they come to our state to escape crowding and industrialization, but they break their necks turning it into the very eyesores they hated

"back home."

We wouldn't mind sharing, but these people TAKE and destroy. We know how the American Indians must have felt. I, too, say, "Visitors, go home." —K.O.G. ... AND MANY OTHERS

DEAR HELEN:

Recently your column has had several pro-abortion letters. Please print something from the opposite side. Many of us believe abortion is murder. The fetus is not a "potential" child, but a child with great potential, no matter how undeveloped.

I sincerely wish those supporting abortion could work in hospitals for a while. If they could see the tiny formed babies whose lives are being snuffed out, maybe they'd change their minds. They say it should be between a woman and her doctor: What of the child? Doesn't he deserve rights too? —ANTI-ABORTION

DEAR A.A.:

I say again what I've said from the start of the abortion controversy: it is the worst form of birth control and I pray that someday soon it will no longer be necessary. Until that day comes, I must vote for liberalized laws. Too many women have died for lack of them. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel in care of this newspaper.

One thing all bridge players should learn is not to show any signs of worry or pique when dummy hits the table.

Goodness knows that expert South wasn't at all happy with the dummy. He was playing three no-trump doubled and vulnerable and the opponents held ace-king, ace-king, ace against him.

He didn't expect to make his contract, but no one could tell from his expression that he had any worries at all. He planned his campaign while East was busy thinking about his play to the first trick.

Eventually East produced the six of spades and South promptly won with his king. Then he slapped down the queen of clubs and it was West's turn to have a problem.

West was a pretty good player and eventually West decided that South did not have a second spade stopper, but did hold both red aces and the king-queen of clubs and was trying to steal a club trick before running off seven tricks in the red suits.

West hopped up with his ace and down crashed East's king. All of a sudden South not only was going to make his contract but he actually came up with two overtricks.

West led the nine of spades and East ducked again. South took his queen; led the seven of clubs and let it ride after West played low.

After this he wound up with six diamonds, three clubs and two spades for one of the best results of 1972.

TIMELY QUOTES

We are not running out of resources worldwide... We won't run out of energy. The only thing we might run out of is imagination. —Walter J. Hickel, former secretary of the interior.

Paris isn't a dead city or a museum that needs to be kept as it is. One cannot stay put in the past. —French President Georges Pompidou, to charges that new high-rise buildings are destroying Paris.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

VD examinations are free

Dear Dr. Lamb—I read your column every night and tonight I saw something that really scared me. Some time ago my uncle raped me and I never told anyone because he is very close to my family. He is an alcoholic and was drunk at the time and I doubt if he even remembers it. But anyway, ever since then I have had a very bad discharge and odor, and your article said that a discharge could be a sign of VD. You said that if anyone thought he had VD he should get medical treatment as soon as possible. Well, if I tell my parents, they will throw me out of the house. My uncle has been with many women who could have VD. I am to be married soon, but I can't get married unless I solve this problem. I need an answer soon.

Dear Reader—Anyone can go to the local health officer or county health officer and get an examination for venereal disease. Even minors can do this without having the information transmitted to parents. If venereal disease is present, it can be treated also, in most states, without it being necessary for the information to be given to one's parents. I have no way of knowing whether you really have a venereal disease or not. Many women, particularly young girls, have a fairly normal heavy discharge, but you have quoted me correctly in saying that anyone who has any reason to suspect that he or she has venereal disease should have an examination as soon as possible.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband is considering having a vasectomy done, but we have a few questions. Does the man lose his sexual desire or have trouble getting an erection? Does ejaculation still occur? If ejaculation does not occur, does this make him feel less manly? Does he still experience the full feeling of orgasm? We would appreciate any information you can give.

Dear Reader—As common as this operation has become, it is absolutely amazing how much misinformation there is about it. The vasectomy merely interrupts the tiny tube that carries the sperm cells from the testicles. Sperm cells continue to be formed. Their movement up the tube is simply blocked off. The other functions of the testicles, namely the formation of male hormones continues in its normal fashion.

A vasectomy will not improve a man's sex life although a number claim to have increased sexual drive after this procedure has been done. These responses are probably a relief from the anxiety associated with the possibility of a pregnancy. It follows, since the same amounts of male testosterone continues to be formed and the ejaculation process is normal, that the erection and the rest of the sexual function should be entirely normal after a successful vasectomy in a normal male. ## Policemen (black) are hard to find

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — For years police departments have been criticized for allegedly not doing all they could to hire blacks.

However, now law enforcement officials in Arkansas say it is almost impossible to hire qualified blacks.

"We think it would really be an asset to our department to have more black officers," said Texarkana police Chief John Butler. "But we just can't hire them."

Butler said there are 38 commissioned officers on the Texarkana department and only one is black.

Butler agrees with other police administrators that blacks qualified to be a policeman can get higher paying jobs in business and industry.

"We had five blacks take the civil service exam in October and all of them failed," Butler said. He added that 14 whites took the exam and only three passed.

"We're one man short now," Butler said. "If you want to get right down to it, we're having trouble recruiting qualified men—both black and white."

Butler said five years ago there was no black officer on the Texarkana department. He said that an all-out effort had been made in recent years to recruit blacks.

Lt. Jim Beach, public information officer for the Arkansas State Police, said that agency also had trouble recruiting blacks.

Out of 396 commissioned officers, only four are black, he said, adding that five years ago none were black.

"I think the answer to our problem is higher salaries," said Deputy Gene Walther, public information officer for the Pulaski County sheriff's department. "I don't see how most police departments keep qualified blacks, whites or anyone else with the salary they pay."

A check of police departments around the state indicated that the starting pay for a patrolman averaged less than $400 per month.

Walther said there were six blacks out of a total of 29 deputies. The number has not changed appreciably in the past five years, he added.

The Little Rock Police Department appears to have one of the best records in the state in its effort to recruit blacks.

Lt. Walter Simpson, the department's public information officer, said the department employed 28 blacks. The department has 280 employees.

Simpson said the department did not keep records on the race of its employees but he believed that there were about six black officers five years ago.

He said the city employed a black man whose sole job was to recruit blacks for employment.

"There is a definite problem in getting qualified blacks to apply," Simpson said. "The demand for quality blacks in other fields is greater than ever before and we are losing dozens of potential black officers."
